PRODUCE HARVEST CALENDAR FOR NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

California agriculture is unique in its character and contribution to the state and the nation by its unparalleled diversity and bounty. California has been blessed with almost perfect weather and rich soil leading to the development of an incredible diversity of produce and livestock. Northern California leads the nation in the production of more than 30 commodities, including peaches, eggs, walnuts, strawberries and artichokes. We lead the nation in selling this agricultural wealth through the state's local farmers' markets. Farmers participate in more than 350 markets statewide, many of them year-round. And community participation is growing! Every time you eat a piece of just-picked, locally grown fruit, you're helping to preserve our rich and vital farmland. Every bag of produce you buy at a local farmers' market helps to preserve that market's future. Remember to buy fresh and buy local for the best quality available, and support your local farmers.

Vegetables	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	Jun	Jul	Aug	Sep	Oct	Nov	Dec	Fruit	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	Jun	Jul	Aug	Sep	Oct	Nov	Dec
Asian greens													Apples
Asparagus													Apricots
Beans													Blackberries
Broccoli													Blueberries
Brussels sprouts													Boysenberries
Carrots													Cantaloupe
Cauliflower													Cherries
Celery													Citrus
Corn													Dates
Cucumber													Figs
Eggplant													Grapes
Garlic													Kiwifruit
Lettuce													Melons
Mushrooms													Nectarines
Onions													Peaches
Parsnips													Pears
Peas													Persimmons
Peppers, Bell													Plums
Potatoes													Pluots
Spinach													Pomegranate
Squash, Summer													Prunes
Squash, Winter													Raspberries
Sweet potatoes													Strawberries
Tomatoes													Watermelon												